A good many vague rumours have been circulating lately about the affairs of the Charbonnages Co. The fact is that the company is not in a satisfactory condition, and debesture holders and shareholders are to be asked to sandtion reconstruction on the following basis :- Capital, 5,000,000 francs (representing about fourteen lakks of dellars) to be distributed as follows: One like of dollars in shares at par to the shareholders in the old company; 35 lakhs to Messra Chater and Mody, in satisfaction of their claims for money advanced to the company, amounting to about nine lakhs; six lakhs in shares at par to the debenture holders; the balance of 4 lakhs to be offered to the public. There is to be no charge of any kind for floating the new company. The works (on which some 26 lakha of dollars have been expended) will thus be sold to the new company for 101 lakhs. The balance of about 4 lakhs which is expected from the public will form a working capitalfor the new concern. This working capital, it is estimated, represents quite double the amount required for the purchase of plant at Hongay and for a briquette machine at Hongkong. No difficulty in obtaining the fresh capital is auticipated, as the concern is looked upon as being on the point of turning out a big

THE present Board of Admiralty are said to be just now incubating the new shipbuilding programme rendered necessary by the virtual completion of Lord G. Hamilton's programme contained in ithe Naval Defence Act of 1880. The Navy and the country will await the new programme with sprious expectation. We sincerely trust that the minous which are current as to its being the intention of the Admiralty to fix 10,000 tons as the maximum displacement of future battleships constructed will prove to be correct. Only a few months lack, in an article in this iournal. (Admiralty and Horse Guards Gazette) we advocated some such limit, and pointed out the fatuity of indulging in a mad rivalry with foreign Powers relative to monster ships-a rivalry to which there is practically no ending, as it is possible, we suppose, to construct vessels of 25,000 or 80,000 tons burden. It ought to be possible to embody all the latest improvements in a vessel of 10,000 tone displacement, and we hope the admiralty will strengously resist any attempt to force them into constructing my more monstrosities.

Trunk is some difference of opinion as to whether the process of digestion is promoted or hindered by bodily exertion. Herr Rosenberg recently made some experiments on a small dog with reference to this point (Pflüger's Archiv.) The animal was fod once daily with a certain quantity of lean borseflesh, land, and rice, and the amount of nitrogen and fat daily absorbed was determined by an examination of the excreta. There were five series of experiments, each obsisting of a rest period of neveral days, followed by a working poriod of several days, the dog being made to work in a kind of treadmill. In some cases these efforts were made during stomachic digestion, in others during intestinal. In both series of experiments the differences pheryed lay within the limits of physiological variations, the inference being, accordingly, that in a healthy dog the utilisation of food is quite independent of whether the simal rests during digestion or is energetically at work. Whether this applies to min could only be determined by direct eneriment. Herr Rosenberg thinks it probable, however, as observations on people with heart disease appear to show that the absorption of food is to a certain extentindependent of the circulation and distillution of the blood.

Ar the Technical Institute at Dundoe on Nov. 26 Mr R.M. Short delivered a lecture on 'Naval Architecture' under the auspices of the Dundes Mechanical Society. The vessels to be built when that new force was fully harnessed for their use would be legithans to which the present greyhounds of the Atlantic would be as the cance of the South Sea savage to an ocean liner of to-day. No docks would be large enough to hold them, but they would knye attendant flests to ply between them and the shore. Their dimensions would preslude for ever the possibility of sea sickness in the wildest weather; their decks would be intersected by great avenues along whose treadth would ply the traffic of a city. The prison-like cells now dight. fied by the some of state rooms would be replaced by the spacious apartments vast hotels, and the Atlantic would beca a more farry; the old world and the would be joined by a floating city.

YEONG WONG SHI V. CHOI SUI HUNG AND ANOTHER, --- ALLEGED ILLEGAL

In this action the plaintiff, the wife of the captain of a Chinese gunboat, sued to recover $1000 for alleged illegal detention and arrest by the defendants, the keepers of a boarding house in Wing Lok Street. Mr Hastings (of Messre Wotton and This is carrying paternal governments to | Descon's office) appeared for the plaintiff

A SCOTCHMAN'S PHILOSOPHY. An old Scotchman is said to have risen in prayer-mosting one night and apropos of nothing delivered himself of the following remarks There are threethings I never could quite understand. First why boys will throw sticks at paraded to take the oath of allegiance to green apples when, if they waited, the apples would ripen and drop off; secondly, I never could quite comprehend why men go to war to kill each other when, if they remained quietly a home, they would die a natural death in good time; thirdly, and most important of all, I do not see why the men chase around after the women, since, if they sat still, the women would run around after them.' How true that death comes to all mee, to some so prematurely, who neglect the waming symptoms of approaching disease, such as a tired aching feeling in the morning, headathes and nervousness, sour taste in the mouth, &c., all these are signs that the physical body is deranged and that if treated lightly, serious danger is to be apprehended.
